2017 Infrastructure Finance Basics Workshop

March 9, 2017
8:00 a.m. Registration
9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m. Workshop (with lunch)

This new workshop will assist small communities and tribal governments in obtaining funding for their environmental infrastructure projects. During the workshop, attendees will learn more about the funding process, gain the tools for evaluating funding alternatives, and find help for getting started with funding applications. The workshop is an initiative of the Great Lakes Environmental Infrastructure Center, the environmental finance center for EPA Region 5.

Topics include:

Overview of Drinking Water and Sewer Systems

Capital Improvement Programs

Grants, Loans, Interest Rates,
Cash Flow, and Rate of Returns

Municipal Bonds

Writing Proposals

Presenters:

Paul A. Nelson, PhD, teaches engineering economy and equipment justification—cash-flow analysis at Michigan Technological University, where he has been a faculty member since 1972. He has also taught finance, quality control, both operations and engineering management, and entrepreneurship. Formerly, Nelson served as an Army field artillery officer, operations research analyst, and comptroller staff officer. He has been a consultant for the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and the Department of Energy.

John Sullivan, PE, is a senior research engineer at the Center for Technology & Training. John has 10 years of experience in state and local government positions and over 30 years of experience as a consulting engineer serving as project manager at water and wastewater projects.
